IQSMO N m Abstract Chromosome painting results suggested at least five pig chromosomes (4, 6, 9, 10 and 14) share syntenic groups with human chromosome 1 (HSA1). Preliminary results of comparative mapping on HSA1 to pig chromosomes has extended and refined the boundaries between pig chromosomes 4 and 6 (SSC4/6) and chromosomes 4 and 9 (SSC4/9) on HSA1 by using the somatic cell hybrid panel (SCHP) analysis. However, a detailed gene order within each assigned sub-chromosomal region cannot be determined due to the low resolution of SCHP mapping. It is of interest to define the correct gene order to make a complete usage of the human map information for future analysis. To improve the map resolution and further define the gene order within each sub-chromosomal region, three genes from two different chromosomes were mapped by using FISH technique. This result combining with previous results from SCHP and linkage mapping have established a higher resolution comparative map between HSA1 and three pig chromosomes.
